We apologize for this change, but it has become necessary to maintain the quality of the newsletter.

A Proposal for a Northern Dance Class

Baron Kay is organizing a 13 week beginning dance class to start the first Wednesday or Thursday of February. He is looking for a dozen or more people willing to donate $20 each to rent space for the class at a school in Silver Spring. No experience is necessary and the objective of the class is to enable you to dance most standardly performed SCA dances.

The class will start by learning a set of bransles (double, single, gay, and Burgundian) followed by pavannes, galliards, several mimed bransles from Arbeau (including Pease Bransle and Horses Bransles), Bransle Charlotte and Official Bransle.

After the bransles, the class will work on several basse dances and ballos including casuelle and gealousia. The class will finish with some familiar English country dances including Sellinger's Round, Gathering Peascods, Hole in the Wall, and Oil of Barley.

Please contact Baron Kay as soon as humanly possible if you are interested at: 301-593-6247.

St. James Faire at Coronation

From the Barony of Windmaster's Hill do Countess Fern de la Foret and Master Robyyan Torr D'Elandris send Greetings to the People of Atlantia.

We have been designated as Masters of St. James Faire, which will be held in celebration of the coronation of Anton and Luned, April 6, 1991. We ask your help in making this Faire an event to remember.

The Faire should be a place of entertainment, amusement, and shopping. We anticipate a midway of games, an entertainment area, merchants, archery, a lawn for bowls, and wandering barkers. Count Guido has agreed to set up the Knave and Coin gaming house, and plans are underway for that marvel of marvels... a dancing bear! What would you like to see? What would you like to do? We would like each Barony and Shire of the Kingdom to be represented in some way at the Faire. Some possible ways to participate would be to have a troupe of entertainers, or a game booth, or to sponsor contests in archery or bowls.

To avoid too many of the same thing, we are requiring that any person or group intending to participate as booth holders or entertainers in the Faire register with us ahead of time. We reserve the right to veto ideas for a booth, especially the second and later registrations of similar ideas- we don't want six "Dunk the Baron" booths, for example (Actually, we don't want even one "Dunk the Baron" booth-unless you can document it as a pre-1600 practice). We encourage you to contact us as early as possible, both to reserve your bright idea or to get one from us. We must know of your intent to participate no later than March 15, as we are planning to go to TFYC, and you won't be able to get in touch with us after that date. We can be contacted at the below address and phone number (a machine will answer if we don't- no calls after 11 pm, please), at events, or electronically at drs@uncvxl.bitnet.

Introducing...

Greetings! Maybe you've seen me ... the red beard, the blue & white tights? William Conor MacLean-that's my name, and I'd like to introduce myself to you as the new Chronicler of the Barony of Storvik. Before I go any further, I'd like to thank a few good gentles for already making my first month easier and welcoming me into the office, and they are: Lord Beornheard, my predecessor, Baron Kay and Baroness Elaina, Lady Johanna, and the numerous members of the Barony populace that have greeted me. I hope to live up to their expectations of me, and to continue the tradition they have fostered of producing a quality newsletter.

In the months to come, expect to see articles on costuming, leatherworking, armor & weapons, and other assorted topics. If you, or someone you know has a topic they would like to write about (or maybe they or you are a little shy, and know a lot about a subject, but never really considered writing about it) please contact me, I'd like to talk to you.

February notes addendum:

As I sat here dictating to my good servant MacIntosh ( a fine lad; always ready to work, great memory, and an excellent scribe), a wonderful excerpt from an old speech came to mind that nicely sums up a description of this month.

I realize that it is not period, but it is taken from the letters of a great man that was- Sir Thomas More ( The Catholic thorn in King Henry VIII's side until More's untimely demise in 1535- note for those of you not fluent in Tudor stuff ).

The speech is by English Prime Minister Disraeli, paraphrasing a letter of More's, speaking to the House of Commons on his return to the office of Prime Minister in 1874:

"Ah, the great month of February is upon us once again. Though winter's fury has not yet abated, we feel that the rebirth of the spring will soon be with us. February, a month of warm fires on the hearth, thick soft blankets, and the warmth of our loved ones to comfort us. How very fitting it is that such a month of warmth and comfort be also known as a month of Love. From the Renaissance Courts of Love to our current celebration of the day of St. Valentine, how this month has become a time of Love and Honor. Do honor to your ancestors, those who have come before you to this place, and share some of the Love and Comfort of this season and do not speak badly of or treat ill another, for this is not a time for such things.

Speak from your hearts, for then shall the true beauty of your spirit shine as bright the sun. Live well and be in peace, but above all... enjoy. This is time that God has given unto you... use it well."

National Gallery Exhibits

A review by Master Conrad von Regensburg

With all the (justifiable) excitement over the simultaneous Titian and Van Dyck exhibits, there are a couple of other special little exhibits going on that have tended to be overlooked. They are: Eva/Ave: Woman in Renaissance and Baroque Prints and The Art of Glass: Masterpieces from the Corning Museum.

Eva/Ave features 152 woodcuts, metalcuts, engravings and etchings on the theme "woman" in prints from the 15th thru the 17th centuries, including examples by such famous artists as Dürer, Rembrandt, Hans Burgkmair, Marcantonio Raimondi, and Lucas Cranach the Elder. The various works portray the widely-held Medieval and Renaissance view that women had two conflicting natures: Good- as symbolized by the Virgin, and Evil- as symbolized by Eve. The exhibit is arranged in several major thematic sections: Heroines and Worthy Women, The Virgin and Saints, Eve, Venus, The Power of Women, Lovers, and Lovers with Death, and Fortune and Prudence.

Some highlights of the exhibit are:

- Dürer's famous engraving of Adam and Eve (1504).

- Burgkmair's "The Nine Female Worthies" (woodcut, 1519), from his "The Eighteen Worthies" series (which includes their attributed heraldic devices).

- a beautifully detailed German interior scene featuring "Samson and Delilah" (engraving, 1545) Hans Brosamer.

- "Prudencia," from the famous series known as "The Tarocchi Cards of Mantegna" (1465).

- several very famous depictions of witches: Dürer's "Witch Riding on a Goat" (1501) and "The Four Witches" (1497), and Hans Grien's "Bewitched Groom" (1544).

The exhibit is located in the west end ground floor of the National Gallery of Art, and will run thru April 28.

Reviews Continued

The Art of Glass is a survey of the artistic history of glass, featuring 121 pieces from the Corning Glass Museum (the most comprehensive collection of glass artifacts in the world). The exhibited pieces span 35 centuries of glasswork, featuring pieces from ancient Egypt, the Roman Empire, Renaissance Europe, Islamic and Asian cultures, and the modern world. Several of the pieces should be of interest to members of the SCA. Some of the more spectacular are:

- a magnificent enamelled "mosgue lamp" with gilt "heraldic cup" decorations from Syria (prob. Damascus, c. 1335).
- several familiar-looking German drinking glasses (blown, with applied decorations) that could have served as the models for any number of Dutch still-life paintings.
- a mottled drinking horn (blown and lustered), probably from Egypt (9th-11th century).
- a magnificent foot-high "Imperial drinking horn" (blown, with enamelled and gilt decorations) from Bohemia (1574); which features a huge Imperial eagle, wings displayed and decorations with dozens and dozens of heraldic shields for the various cities, counties, kingdoms, etc. of the Holy Roman Empire. [My personal favorite!]

"The Art of Glass" is in the East Building of the National Gallery of Art, and will continue thru March 17.

NOTES FROM THE JANUARY BARONY MEETING

The January Barony meeting was held at the home of Lord Herverus d'Ormonde on Jan. 13, 1991.

OFFICER'S REPORTS: Herald: Master Conrad reported that the transfer of office from Lord Donal to him was complete, that all files had been received and the end of year report had been filed. Marshal: Lord Stefan, reporting for Lord Cosimo, relayed the progress in the search for a Monday practice site. Lists: no report. Arts & Sciences: no report. Exchequer: Lady Aislinn reported that the preparation for the 1990 taxes continued and that she would be going over the books with her predecessor Lady Maura, the next weekend. She mentioned the possibility of changing the bank account from Virginia to Maryland or the District, and possibly opening a separate account for the Drekkar. She also announced that she is seeking a Deputy and would like all interested parties to contact her. The account balance for the Barony was announced at $2973.86, with $327.63 attributed to the Drekkar. Chronicler: The new Chronicler, Wm. Conor MacLean, introduced himself and then asked his predecessor, Lord Beornheard, to give the year end report. He noted that there are currently 126 subscriptions, with 21 of them being complimentary (sent to Kingdom officers, royalty, local groups) making a subscription liability of $353.50 (figuring the old postage cost leading to a $.50 @ issue total expense), or a $454.20 liability (using the new higher postage rate leading to a $.5833 @ issue cost). Based on these known future expenses, plus the upcoming cost of the Tintinnabulum (to be published in late Spring), Lord Conor requested and received a $300.00 grant from the Barony to cover the years expenses. Possible cost overruns were discussed and Baronessa Ilaria offered to run a fund raiser for the Drekkar at the upcoming Barons' Championship. Seneschal: The new Chatelaine, Eber Finn, is handing out Drekkars to new folk. He also worked with a photographer/reporter at 12th Night who is preparing a feature story on the SCA.

CANTON NOTES: Neapsbury Downs: has now officially changed their name from Osprey Fjord. Their 4th Quarter report was being completed at the time of the meeting. Ponte Novo: will be changing their name due to a mundane conflict. Their 4th quarter report has been submitted. They now have a new meeting site, see the announcement on page 22. The possibility of a separate canton bank account is being researched. Wrattingham Lynn: They are now officially incipient! It was announced that the Kingdom Seneschal, Sir Loric, had received their paperwork.

Chronicle of Storvik

Here begins the telling of the Chronicle of the Barony of Storvik for the month of January, AS XXV.

With winter's chill in the air, and the snows upon the lands of our home, our pursuits have turned indoors.

First there was our gathering on the 4th day past Christmas, a revel of magnificent proportions at which our blessed Baron and Baroness received the Khan of the Great Horde at their court! Another occurrence of the evenings festivities was the naming of a new Provost for our University- Lord Beornheard of Wearmouth, a quite knowledgeable man. In the process of being named Provost, Lord Beornheard relinquished the title, office and tokens of Chronicler of Storvik- a position he well served for two years- into the hands of Lord Wm. Conor MacLean, myself. By doing thus, he in essence "Belled the Cat." As you may recall, in the last recounting of the Chronicle by Lord Beornheard, he spoke of the tale of the bell. He refers to the act of placing the bell upon myself as "Belling the Cat," and this is more true than he knows! My great Midrealm clan, that I am Sennachaidh of, claims as their charge, as do I - a cat combatant. Therefore he has indeed "Belled the Cat!"

But further on...

Held in a Great Hall, our celebration of the twelfth night of Christmas was well attended, and we were graced by the presence of not one, but two young princes- Randall of the mighty East Realm and Anton of our own Atlantia. The feast was remarkable, and truly fit for the royalty that joined with us. Dancing, music, and laughter filled that Hall until we were certain it would overflow.

The evenings festivities included a court by their Highnesses of the East and Atlantia, which poured forth awards unto our populace. I myself, my Lady Aislinn, and Lady Caitlin were all recipients of the crown's favor in the granting of Awards of Arms. Other awards were given as well, most notably the Order of the Pearl being bestowed upon the most worthy and talented Lord James of Rutland.

Thus concludes this Chronicle of the Barony, the first by the hand of Lord Wm. Conor MacLean, recently appointed Chronicler of Storvik, on this 27th day of January, AS XXV.
