Grape Harvest

We've skipped August, where the nobles went hawking, and the peasants continued to reap and also go swimming. Here in September, grapes are harvested and carried by mule and oxcart to be pressed into juice for wine. A man snacks on grapes, a woman tucks her skirts into her apron, and we get a good view of men's underwear. Très Riches Heures du Duc de Berry. Via Wikimedia.

Skol!

Word-fame for those in Storvik's hall

Many were honored at Pennsic! These are all the tales I have heard that involved Storviki. Any omissions are from ignorance, and all are encouraged to send me tales of heroism at chronicler@storvik.atlantia.sca.org.

Last time, the skalds sang of Lady Sonya Flicker's excellent Known World Dance and Music Symposium. This reached Their Majesties' ears, and she was awarded a Herring in recognition. She was also recognized with an Opal for her years of service to our barony, as a dance mistress and an officer.

Not satisfied with these accomplishments, Lady Patches also volunteered at Newcomers' Point with Mirabella, welcoming new folk to the SCA.

Sayyida Tala al-Zahra also received an Opal for her service. Sayyida Tala volunteers on the archery field, and as an instructor of Middle Eastern studies.

The combat archers and siege engineers of Atlantia were awarded the Vexillum Atlantiae for their exploits at Pennsic. This is the "Award of the Banner" (and reports are that the banner was made by our Baroness Emma West), which honors and recognizes the ferocity and valor of a group of fighters as a whole, not as individuals. When they fight as a unit, the group will have the honor of carrying the banner with the heraldry of the award into battle. Skol! For the combat archers and engineers of Storvik!

Our baronial Armored Champion, Lady Anne Barlow, came in second in the Known World Baronial Champion's tournament! And our baronial Rapier Champion, Lord Jeffry Thorn, fought and killed two enemies in a war point battle with naught but his dagger.

But fear all Lady Tibbie Crosier, Kingslayer! The Kingdom of the East put on mourning after Lady Tibbie killed the Eastern king at Pennsic this year. Their Majesties Cuan and Signy recognized this deed with a Shark's Tooth.

And let all hear and know – Yaakov Ha'Mizrachi was placed on vigil, and then elevated to the Order of the Laurel for his skills in the bardic arts. Master Yaakov has long entertained us with his original poetry, songs and stories, and the performers of Atlantia rejoice to see him so recognized. Skol! And mazel tov! For Master Yaakov.
