The Harvesters
1565
Pieter Bruegel the Elder (Netherlandish)

*"In this work, the viewer is transported to a hot summer day in the Netherlands. It belongs to a series, commissioned by the Antwerp merchant Nicolaes Jongelincq for his suburban home. The cycle originally included six paintings showing the times of the year. Apart from The Harvesters, which is usually identified as representing July–August, four other paintings of the group have survived (now in the Kunsthistorisches Museum, Vienna, and Lobkowitz Collection, Prague). Bruegel's series is a watershed in the history of Western art. The religious pretext for landscape painting has been suppressed in favor of a new humanism, and the unidealized description of the local scene is based on natural observations."*

Events:

- Nothing to report.

Old Business:

- Nothing to report.

New Business:

- Kingdom wants copy of the most recent financial policy to see about getting our policies up to date with kingdom's/Society's. Kingdom will get recommendations. Financial policy details to be resolved next meeting; kingdom also wants additional signatures issues worked on.
- Corporate rule says no events, but can still do local activities. What's the consensus? Takeaway: Barony is potentially comfortable with outdoor stuff, but not gung-ho. In particular: fighting/bardic in particular contraindicated, bathrooms will be an ongoing problem, church has its own policy to follow, archery, maybe equestrian, maybe fighting practice if outdoors, and in masks, and with no exertion. Baron notes that we are not required to have in-person local activities.

Meeting adjourned 7:36 PM. Next meeting via Zoom on September 20th, 7-9 PM.
